A large grid for handwriting practice. The first column contains five tracing models. Each model consists of a solid blue line on the left that transitions into a dashed blue line on the right. The models show different wave patterns: a full wave, a partial wave, a peak and valley, a valley and peak, and a single peak.

A second large grid for handwriting practice, identical in structure to the first one. It contains five tracing models in the first column, each with a solid blue line transitioning to a dashed blue line.
